Environmental Advocacy in Africa

Summary

Art in Tanzania is introducing and implementing environmentally friendly solutions for the Tanzanian communities as the use of dry toilets, composting and household water reuse. We also focus on eco-construction and planting bamboo as an eco-friendly solution for construction material. We also emphasize sustainable tourism operations.

Details

Tanzanian communities are lacking economic strength to implement environmentally friendly solutions in their households.

Presently less than 50% of the households have a toilet. Interns are developing sustainable and affordable solutions including a dry toilet for households and schools. This program includes Solar Based Water purification as well.

Other green work includes developing composts, sustainable sources for cooking heat, development of tree and bamboo nurseries as well as neighbourhood education and advocacy. A local source of funding and sustainability for Art in Tanzania are wildlife safari and other tourism operations. We are developing an NGO business model to streamline revenue back into communities.

The working hours are 6-8 hours per day from Monday to Friday. This is an ongoing program and we can adjust the starting dates. Paid internships include a local minimum wage of $100 USD per month. We also offer stipends depending on the terms of the internship and regulations of your home university.

Eco-Construction in Africa

Summary

Art in Tanzania (NGO) is looking for students to help us to develop our Eco-campus in Madale village. We focus to develop as an eco-building model in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania. We are testing traditional Africa construction materials and methods.

Details

We are using locally sourced bamboo, building basic dry toilets and simple grey-water collection systems for irrigation.

We look to learn from traditional African construction using mud, trees, hay, stones and other village and tribal-based materials and techniques.

Modern techniques include solar and led lights in first place but also to use innovation and creativity to develop interior designing combining modern technology and traditional style and eco materials.

In addition, we advocate local builders, youth and international volunteers and interns in different techniques in more ecological living.

Concerning designs and creative construction we wish to implement tree houses and similar new solutions.

Interior design eco products as led lampshades made of natural materials can also be used to give new business to women groups.

We are using our Social Media pages for advocacy work and our Facebook pages have more than 50K followers.

Village Sports Support in Africa

Summary

Art in Tanzania is developing children and youth sports programs in village level in Tanzania. The main focus is on youth football and girls' sports activities.

This program is also part of Children's Agenda created by NGO coalition of UNICEF and others.

Details

Tanzanian communities are lacking capacities to run children and youth sports programs.

Commonly children make their football grounds themselves and play with makeshift balls. Organized Coaching is rare. Currently, Art in Tanzania is focused on developing youth football.

We develop structures for village tournaments and select talented children for more advanced training. Tanzanian sports teachers are voluntarily assisting the program and our task is to develop a proper football education system.

We are also developing girls' teams and diversified coaching of other team sports.

We are also developing Community Training taking place weekends. This is coming more popular in Tanzania and part of the Public Health approach, interns help to structure program, to train our Tanzanian coaches, advise about sports in schools, perform coaching activities with the local coaches, and organize tournaments.

Interns are working in a team of international and Tanzanian multi-professional intern teams.

Village Education Support in Africa

Summary

Art in Tanzania focuses on to help educational tasks in the nursery, primary and secondary schools in Tanzania as well as adult vocational training. The schools we help are mostly poor village schools. Interns help to develop primary education and also conduct advocacy work.

Details

Art in Tanzania Educational program is part of our Children's Agenda approach implemented by a coalition including UNICEF, Save the Children and others.

We work in a village nursery, primary and secondary schools but we also run adult vocational training where the focal point is the women. The program also includes classes for children living with disabilities.

Participants are specifically needed to cover subjects where the schools are weak.

Areas of development include English, arts and music, mathematics and sports teaching. Interns also advocate in subjects as HIV/AIDS, health and hygiene. Debate based English training is a very popular subject.

We are using our Social Media pages for advocacy work and our Facebook pages have more than 50K followers. Presently we are developing online and mobile platforms to reach children in rural Tanzania as the Rolling Stories <https://rollingstories.com/showRoller.php?raw=1519131326051>

We also highlight teacher-training activities.

Tools in the classrooms are scarce also the size of the classroom can be 40 students up. Energetic and innovative teachers are needed.

Sustainable Tourism in Africa

Summary

Art in Tanzania is running safari and tour operations in Tanzania as part of NGO fundraising. Interns develop guiding, tour development, and marketing of tours and safaris.

Details

Art in Tanzania looks for to differentiate in safari and tour business offering sustainable travel options. Commonly safaris are performed by tour agents located in the western world who sell the safaris but only part of the money then actually comes to Tanzania to support the economy. Typically, villages around famous National Parks are the poorest of the poor. Art in Tanzania tour income comes in full to Tanzania and it is used to support the Tanzanian economy and profits used for community development activities.

Art in Tanzania tour operations includes National Parks and game reserves as Serengeti, N'gorongoro, Lake Manyara, Selous, Mikumi, and Ruaha. We also take tourists to Mt Kilimanjaro as well as to the Zanzibar Islands.

Participants assist in guiding tasks, to develop daily programs, in customer service and in marketing. Marketing is much as social media-based but we also develop networking to get us visible for our target groups around the world.

This is an ongoing program so you can start at any time. The program also includes hostelry activities and duties in the volunteer compounds including kitchen, canteen and bar operations.

We are using our Social Media pages for advocacy work and our Facebook pages have more than 50K followers.

Corporate Social Responsibility in Africa

Summary

Art in Tanzania and its partners work with the Tanzanian corporate and government institutions to develop Corporate Social Responsibility issues. These topics also include Climate Change action.

Details

In the Western world private citizens social responsibility is commonly well recognized and introduced in school curriculums and public advocacy programs.

In Tanzania, the private citizen's social responsibility is poorly known and the public in common do not know about climate change as well. Corporate policies are not seriously including social responsibility issues. At the same time, Tanzania is one of the countries where climate change is strongly affecting the agriculture-based economy.

This program is to advocate the schools and public in common about social responsibility and to take the Tanzanian business community to help us to deliver the message in the schools. Presently we work with entities as Dar es Salaam University, Airtel, PVC, NBC Bank and Coca-Cola and extending the program further.

We are developing new media platforms as the Rolling Stories to advocate, give visibility and for therapeutic means

<https://rollingstories.com/showRoller.php?raw=1519131326051>

This program is a cross-cutting focus where students of different professions can attend and work together. We work as a team managed by Art in Tanzania academic level team leaders. The tasks include topics as advocacy work in the schools, developing corporate social responsibility approach, producing advocative media and visibility and similar tasks.

Paid internships include a local minimum wage/stipend of $100 USD per month. We also offer stipends depending on the terms of the internship and regulations of your home university. Starting and end dates are flexible and can accommodate other travel arrangements in Tanzania. International flights, Student permit, accommodation, and meals are personal costs.

We also offer participants with disabilities personal assistants and drivers at additional expenses; $30 USD per week. 24-hour general assistance is free.

You and your visiting friends can enjoy sustainable tourism, safaris, and local tour options at low cost.

To book you in and to open your personal account we need your tentative arrival and departure dates.

Community Therapy Internship in Africa

We assist the village clinics to perform community-based therapy programs targeting children and women. You can also have practical training in programs as Corporate Social Responsibility.

An internship can be tailored accordingly to different groups; children in poverty, children, and youth with disabilities, orphaned children, unemployed youth, women in poverty, people with HIV, people recovering from trauma, people recovering from addiction, elderly, artists, teachers, etc.

We are using our Social Media pages for advocacy work and our Facebook pages have more than 50K followers.

Presently we are developing online and mobile platforms to reach children in rural Tanzania as the Rolling Stories <https://rollingstories.com/showRoller.php?raw=1519131326051>

We provide in-country orientation and training and academic tutoring for the program.

Each participant will start in Dar es Salaam but can move to another location after 2 weeks. Work hours are 6-8 hours Monday-Friday.

Climate Change Effect on Socio-Economy in Africa

Summary

Art in Tanzania is partnering a consortium of NGOs and private sector actors to evaluate and produce solutions to the combination of climate change and human rights in rural Africa.

Details

Some 75% of Tanzanian people live in rural areas and their livelihood, based on agricultural income, will be hardly affected by climate change.

The vulnerable groups as women youth and people living with disabilities are most affected.

This program is a multi-professional student approach to evaluate what is the present situation, future scenarios and to develop models for the solutions.

We are using our Social Media pages for advocacy work and our Facebook pages have more than 50K followers.

Presently we are developing online and mobile platforms to reach children in rural Tanzania as the Rolling Stories <https://rollingstories.com/showRoller.php?raw=1519131326051>

Interns work 6-8 hours per day from Monday to Friday.

Your internship will be supervised by academic graduate team leaders.

BASICS:

- You receive USD 100 per month being about 2x Tanzania national minimum wage. Not much but some money here to spend as the cost structure is low.
- All International flights are a personal cost
- You do not need much money here for living cost. If you attend a safari, Mt Kilimanjaro climbs, etc budget from USD 500 to USD 1600 depending on various student options.
- Safety; Tanzania is probably safer than your home place.
- Vaccinations: Only common shots as tetanus, hepatitis, etc that you keep valid in any case
- Malaria: You can use preventives but in case you get malaria it is a routine to medicate here.
- Medical services: Many clinics and hospitals with easy access and medication standard is good and cost nominal.
- Please take a common travel insurance
- Working hours are 6-8 hours per day from Monday to Friday and can be adjusted
